

CHRISTIE VANHORNE, M.ED, MPH OF CVH CONSULTING PRESENTS THE HISTORY OF HEALTH DISPARITIES AND CURRENT IMPACTS

Join virtually April 26th, 12-1pm

Followed by an Optional Discussion Session

Deepen understanding of the past and acknowledge the impact and root causes of health inequities to help cultivate empathy to improve the lives of the people, patients, and communities we serve. Christie will discuss the historical factors contributing to health disparities and discrimination, including unethical experimentation and how historical research abuse has led to generational mistrust and impacts during the Covid-19 pandemic.

"This course provides an extraordinarily thoughtful and expert approach to discussing complex historical topics. Christie knows how to reach her audience; she is an engaging, passionate speaker who does a beautiful job of simplifying complex issues."

-Melissa Clark, MS Senior Director of Community Engagement United Way of Dutchess-Orange

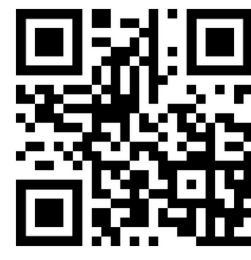

"As a community psychologist and evaluator, I work with nonprofits and coalitions to create more equitable outcomes. This course provided a better understanding of what I need to know to be more effective in my work. It made me think and enabled me to link the history of racism to the health disparities we see in our world today."
